

Description

Half-Moon Stone, Cromleque da Portela de Mogos, Évora District, Évora. Scanned by Global Digital Heritage in April, 2019. Processed from 480 photographs in Reality Capture.

A single stone in the cromleque that has a carving of a half-moon barley visible. which can be seen in the model when the texture is removed.

"It was built and used during the Middle and Late Neolithic periods (5th and 4th millennia BC)."

Description from: The Megalithic Portal. <https://www.megalithic.co.uk/article.php?sid=14608>

Specifications

Country: Portugal

Region: Alentejo

Site: Cromeleque de Portela de Mogos

Model URL: <https://gdh.org/model/half-moon-stone-cromeleque-da-portela-de-mogos/>